ORDER

Calling Out 8000 Men

Strike Applies to West Virginia Districts

MANY ARMED GUARDS NOW IN THE FIELD

BLOODY STRUGGLE MAY FOLLOW

Some Men Have Been Out on Strike Since Last June—Condition of Bondage.

(Advocate Telegram.)

Indianapolis, Ind., May 19—Vice President Lewis, of the United Mine Workers, in the absence of President Mitchell, admitted this morning that the West Virginia strike order was issued last Thursday, to take effect today. No information has been received at headquarters as to how many men responded and Lewis expects nothing until tomorrow's mail. The strike applies to the Loup Creek and New River, W. Va. districts and Lewis says it calls out 8,000 men.

MANY ARMED GUARDS.
(Advocate Telegram.)

Huntington, W. Va., May 19—Should the strike of miners in the Loup Creek and New River fields, which it is said has been sanctioned by the national officers of the United Mine Workers of America materialize, it is estimated that between 8,000 and 10,000 miners will be affected. The operators have been preparing for a struggle and there are many armed guards in these fields.

MAY BE BLOODY STRUGGLE.
(Advocate Telegram.)

Indianapolis, Ind., May 19—The officers of the United Mine Workers of America will try to bring the situation in the Loup Creek and New River (West Virginia) bituminous districts to a climax at once. These are the districts in which their official paper declares that a condition of bondage exists among the miners. Some of the men in the districts have been on a strike since June 7 last year, but a large number who went out then have returned to work. Delegates representing the entire district met at Mount Hope last week and assured Lewis that the men are ready to go out again and he thinks that not enough will be left about the mines to work them.

He anticipates, however, that there may be a bloody struggle as the operators have armed guards everywhere.

Several workmen were hit but none was seriously hurt. The police dispersed the mob and made one arrest.

CARS RUNNING

But Nobody is Riding in Them at Bridgeport—Fifteen Men Arraigned This Morning.

(Advocate Telegram.)
Bridgeport, Conn., May 19—Last night passed without any act of violence worth mentioning in the trolley strike. No cars were run. The first car started from the barns this morning at Barnum avenue at 9:30. It was protected by the usual array of sheriffs. No passengers are riding on the cars and the probabilities are that there will be little traffic on the road for some time. As a result of yesterday's arrest fifteen men were arraigned in police court today on charges of intimidation, stone throwing or breach of the peace Sunday.

FEUD

Can Be Stopped By Appeal To People Says Howard.

(Advocate Telegram.)

Lexington, Ky., May 19—General O. O. Howard, U. S. A., retired, thinks he can stop the feuds in Kentucky by a personal appeal to the people. General Howard's family in Eastern Kentucky is one of the largest in the mountains and distant relatives of the General have been involved in many of the feuds of recent years. Regarding the Breathitt county feud, in which the 24th victim has just been assassinated General Howard said: "This is the most serious of them all, because one side has complete control of the law. Law can be used to defend or oppress, and in this case I fear the law is being used to oppress the enemy and protect the criminal. I would solve this problem by taking away the power of office. The county might be divided up between adjoining counties and the offices abolished."

"I am a millionaire and I live on the moon when I'm at home," declared a man who entered the probate court at Cleveland Monday. He was adjudged insane.

SHOT DEAD

FORMER LIEUT. GOVERNOR OF LOUISIANA KILLED

In a Street Duel by James Garault at Thibodeaux—Self Defense is Claimed.

Thibodeaux, La., May 19—A shooting affray which resulted in the death of ex-Lieutenant Governor Clay Knoblock occurred yesterday on Main street.

The affair created intense excitement. The shooting was done by James Garault, a barber, and took place in a section of Main street usually crowded. Not many people were on the street. Several witnesses of the shooting were found but they refused to talk further than to say that Garault shot in self defense.

The two men were seen talking together, when suddenly ex-Lieutenant Governor Knoblock drew his revolver. It appeared that he experienced some trouble with the weapon and it failed to explode. Meantime Garault whipped out his revolver and opened fire on his adversary.

That his aim was true was established by the autopsy held by the coroner, who found five wounds in the dead man's body.

Garault surrendered to the authorities immediately but it is believed he will be allowed bond. Henry Clay Knoblock was a native of Lafourche parish. He served as lieutenant governor under Governor Samuel D. McEnery, now United States senator. He has been practicing law at Thibodeaux.

POCKET

TYPEWRITER IS INVENTED BY A GRANVILLE MAN.

It Embodies All the Features of a Commercial Machine and Can be Carried in the Pocket.

The Brooklyn, N. Y., Eagle, has the following to say about the invention of W. E. Lloyd of Granville, which has already been briefly described in these columns:

One of the latest novelties in the line of typewriters is one that is called the "pocket typewriter," invented by William E. Lloyd of Granville, O. It is said to embody all of the features of a commercial typewriter as to keys, type bars, carriage for paper, and feed mechanisms for spacing the letters and lines. It can be carried in a hand satchel or even in the pocket, the parts being compactly arranged and being as few in number as possible.

The frame of the machine comprises two parts that are essential; these are a head and body, and they are readily separated for convenience in carrying about, suitable fastenings being provided for securing the parts when they are assembled. The body is of ring shape and the head is the shape of a cup. The body accommodates the paper, while the key heads are fitted in the head. In order to make the device as compact as possible, the type head is of a triangular make; that is, it has three faces and on each surface is a separate character—it may be a capital letter, a small letter and another of the characters used on a typewriter. By the mechanism any one of these characters is brought into action and impressed on the paper at the will of the operator. The actual impression, after the key is struck, is by a spring, rather than by the pressure of the key. It is said that by this means a very even impression is made on the paper. In order to dispose of the paper with economy of space it is coiled up in the ring shaped body and ingenious means are provided for carrying it along at each stroke of the finger on the key and at the end of each line.

An hour later the prisoner was discovered unconscious and upon an ambulance surgeon being summoned was found to be dead. It is supposed that he had secreted poison about his person and had swallowed it.

Makes Good His Threat to Fight Earhart—All Richland County Has Been Billed.

(Advocate Telegram.)

Mansfield, O., May 19—All Richland county is ablaze today with huge streamers bearing Tom L. Johnson's name in large letters. Mayor Johnson's advance agent arrived yesterday with nearly a box car of literature. The people awoke to find posters on every barn and fence. Dodgers were on every doorstep in Mansfield. This is because W. H. Earhart, at the last legislature, jumped the Democratic caucus and voted for the Curative act.

Johnson then denounced Earhart and a half dozen other Democrats as party traitors, and declared if any sought re-election he would fight them with all his forces. Earhart is the first man up and Johnson is keeping his word with a vengeance. C. H. Hershey, the insurance man, is Earhart's only opponent. Earhart's friends are confident but a bitter fight is promised. Johnson is also billed for meeting at Shiloh, Shelby and Belleville.

DR. KEMP'S DISCOVERY

Remarkable Plan For Raising the Dead to Life.

MAKES HEART BEAT BY MASSAGING

New York Physicians Said to Have Found Secret of Restoring Suspended Animation—Brought Life to a Dog That Had Been Dead Sixteen Minutes.

Raising an interesting question as to when life in animals actually becomes extinct, Dr. Robert C. Kemp of New York has found it possible to restore a dog to life after its heart had stopped beating for sixteen minutes, says the New York Herald. After an examination by surgeons the animal was officially pronounced dead, yet Dr. Kemp by massaging its heart so far brought it back to life that it lived twenty-four hours and meanwhile was so far restored to the use of its faculties that it ate and drank and performed its usual functions.

In eleven out of twenty-three experiments of this character Dr. Kemp has succeeded in "restoring dogs to life," and he is convinced that in the case of human beings under similar conditions the proportion of restorations would be far greater.

In the case of the dogs he ascribes their death after an interval of from two or three to twenty-four hours not to failure of his treatment, for that has apparently been successful, but to the fact that the dogs could not be prevented from tearing away the bandages with which their wounds were bound up.

Only one such experiment has been tried on a human being, and in that case it was not successful, but the fact that the girl whose life he tried to restore after her heart had stopped beating was suffering from a severe attack of blood poisoning may explain the failure.

In the case of the dogs on which Dr. Kemp experimented all had been placed under the influence of chloroform. By the use of delicate instruments their heart beats and respiration were carefully noted and automatically charted, and when both respiration and heart beats had ceased so far as the chart showed the experiment in restoration was begun.

Dr. Kemp's method is founded on one which has been in use abroad, but the surgeons before whom he read his paper at a meeting held in the New York Academy of Medicine the other night were of opinion that he had improved on the foreign system, which is to make an incision large enough for the insertion of the entire hand, while the incision made by Dr. Kemp is only as large as would be made for the removal of pus. He inserts only two fingers, and instead of massaging the heart in regular beats he initiates the double beat of the heart when it is working under normal conditions, as shown on his chart, by the use of his apparatus. The vital spark remains active, he believes, and he merely fans it into renewed life by massaging the heart.

For more than two years Dr. Kemp has been making experiments of this character in the physiological laboratory of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, assisted by Dr. A. W. Gardner, and surgeons who have been doing the work he has been doing have awaited his report with deep interest. They are of opinion that Dr. Kemp has taken a long step forward in the methods of resuscitation and that while such a course as he has demonstrated is possible it would not be resorted to except in extreme and rare cases. Several who were seen recently declared that undoubtedly his work could be made to save several hundred lives a year.

"Dr. Kemp's conclusions from his experiments will be listened to with the greatest interest and confidence by the medical profession," said Dr. George F. Shady. "The fact that he was able to restore an animal to the use of its normal functions so long a time as sixteen minutes after the heart had stopped beating is a matter of the greatest possible importance, and the application of the system to human beings will be watched by all surgeons with the keenest interest."

"As a last resort in saving life, where heart failure has followed the use of an anesthetic, Dr. Kemp's application of and improvement upon all known physiological principles are of the utmost importance," said Dr. Robert T. Morris. "But such an experiment would have to be made once in ten thousand times, as the modern methods of applying anesthetics are so certain that they almost never have bad results."

SERVANT GIRL UNION RULES

No Sunday Night Suppers and No Babies to Be Cared For.

No Sunday night suppers will be prepared; no work will be done in the kitchen after 2:30 p. m. until 5:30 a. m.; no babies will be minded between the acts of ordinary housework functions; no children will be allowed in the kitchen; no girl will work for less than $5 per week; each girl shall have three nights out each week.

The above are six of the articles of faith adopted by the newly formed Servant Girls' union of Holyoke, Mass., says the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Another stipulates that "The girl shall be allowed the use of the front door and of a parlor or other room more suitable than the kitchen in which to entertain her male cousins."

STORIES OF STODDARD.

How the Famous Poet Dined in an Elevator on Irish Stew.

The late Richard Henry Stoddard, the poet and essayist, was nothing if not democratic, says William J. Bok in a Philadelphia paper. Happening into the elevator of the New York Mail and Express building some time ago I was momentarily surprised at seeing the venerable poet with the cover of a tin dinner pail on his lap, eating some Irish stew. It seems that the poet came into the elevator when the conductor was eating his midday meal. In answer to some jocose remark from the man of letters the elevator man asked his distinguished passenger whether he would not share his plain fare. "It is only Irish stew," added the man of brawn.

To his astonishment the poet accepted, and for twenty minutes Stoddard rode up and down with the elevator, eating heartily of the stew and talking all the time in the interesting manner that only Stoddard could. I was reminded of this incident by the poet's introduction on one occasion of the elevator man to his wife as "the gentleman with whom I sometimes dine."

When Mr. Stoddard was called downstairs from his den to take his last leave of his wife before her death the aged poet was composing a poem on death at the time, says the New York Times. When he was led into the sick room Mrs. Stoddard, after he had kissed her, raised herself up with an effort and turning to an old family servant said:

"Alice, after I am gone take good care of Dick, and, for heaven's sake, go out and buy him a couple of new shirts!"

These were her last words.

There was no minister present at Mrs. Stoddard's funeral, says the New York American. The poet himself, standing at her grave, peering at the sky with almost sightless eyes, spoke a eulogy of his dead helpmate. He could say but little. His last words were keenest. He said:

"The heart weakens with its effort to find expression through human lips for such a moment as this to me."

PREACHES TOOTHBRUSHES.

Booker T. Washington Says That Is the Tuskegee Gospel.

"I preach the gospel of the toothbrush. You can't civilize without it. When at our school at Tuskegee after second and third disappearances the toothbrush is replaced, as it were, by its own motion, we know that salvation is assured. I don't care how poor a man is, when he comes to Tuskegee he is required to purchase a toothbrush."

With this statement Booker T. Washington opened his address before the Women's club in Chicago the other day, says the New York World.

"It's like the old colored man who came to me and said: 'Mr. Washington, there's hardly any pig stealing left in this neighborhood any more, sah. They've all learned to raise pork, so they don't have to steal.'"

"We must teach my race the details of living. We must teach it how to sleep, how to eat, how to spend money. You can find plenty of girls down there that can locate Peking and the Sahara on the map, but can't find a carving knife and fork on a dinner table. You can go in to many a cabin and find one fork on the table and a sixty dollar organ in the corner. They don't know how to spend their money. They'll buy an expensive clock when there isn't one in the family that can tell the time."

A Blow at Vegetarianism.

One Dr. Brockler, a scientist of Vienna, has created more or less of a sensation by declaring that European vegetarians never have any great-grandchildren and tend to lose their own sight and their hair, as well as their "courage," early in life, says the Philadelphia Public Ledger. There who convert the doctor point out that something like a third of mankind lives only on rice and similar food and yet grows and multiplies. It is also brought forward that among the meat eating peoples of the earth premature baldness, bad eyesight and a lessening offspring are so common as to constitute seriously discussed problems.

The Premium Habit.

On tobacco, soap, tea, coffee, pianos and automobiles. And when he gets enough He'll have earned a cane, collar button, umbrella, match box, house and lot or book of fiftations.

For it's the ruling passion, This saving up of tags And stamps and gaudy wrappers From bottles, boxes, bags. Yes, everybody's got it. And I have got it too. I'm simply so distracted I don't know what to do!

Give me your tags and wrappers, Give me your labels, friends; Give me your castoff stoppers, Give me your cigar ends, Give me your extra trademarks, Give me your bottles, pray. For I'm going to draw tomorrow On the things I save today!

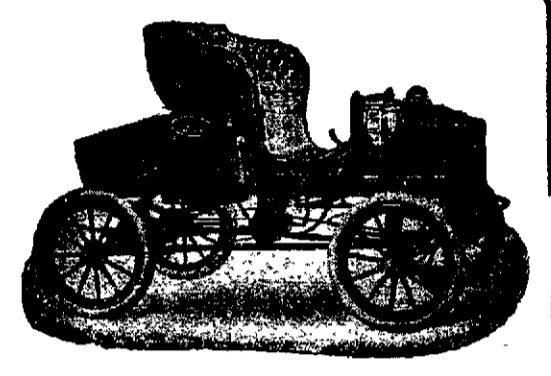

Ten thousand tags will get me A copper headed cane And twice ten thousand tags an Umbrella for the rain. Oh, everybody's got it. And I have got it too. I'm simply so distracted I don't know what to do!

Miss Hapgood tells how she was cured of Fallopian and Ovarian Inflammation— and escaped an awful operation by using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I suffered for four years with what the doctors called Salpingitis (inflammation of the fallopian tubes and ovaries), which is a most distressing and painful ailment, affecting all the surrounding parts, undermining the constitution, and sapping the life forces. If you had seen me a year ago, before I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and had noticed the sunken eyes, sallow complexion, and general emaciated condition, and compared that person with me as I am today, robust, hearty and well, you would not wonder that I feel thankful to you and your wonderful medicine, which restored me to new life and health in five months, and saved me from an awful operation."—Miss IRENE HAPGOOD, 1022 Sandwich St., Windsor, Ont.

Ovaritis or inflammation of the ovaries or fallopian tubes which adjoin the ovaries may result from sudden stopping of the monthly flow, from inflammation of the womb, and many other causes. The slightest indication of trouble with the ovaries, indicated by dull throbbing pain in the side, accompanied by heat and shooting pains, should claim your instant attention. It will not cure itself, and a hospital operation, with all its terrors, may easily result from neglect.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I can truly say that you have saved my life, and I cannot express my gratitude to you in words.

"Before I wrote to you telling how I felt, I had doctored for over two years steady and spent lots of money in medicine besides, but it all failed to do me any good. My menses did not appear in that time, and I suffered much pain. I would daily have fainting spells, headache, backache and bearing down pain, and was so weak that it was hard for me to do my work.

"I used your medicine and treatment as directed, and after taking three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier together, and am now restored to perfect health. Had it not been for you, I would have been in my grave.

"I will always recommend your wonderful remedies, and hope that these few lines may lead others who suffer as I did to try your remedies."—Mrs. T. C. WILLIAMS, R. R. No. 1, Manning, Iowa.

Such unquestionable testimony proves the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over diseases of women. Women should remember that they are privileged to consult Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., about their illness, entirely free.

His Time Was Not Up.
A man of a mercenary spirit had several sons, one of whom was on the eve of his twenty-first birthday. The father had always been a strict disciplinarian, keeping his boys well under parental charge, allowing them few liberties and making them work hard.

It was with a feeling of considerable satisfaction that the young man rose on the morning of his birthday and began to collect his personal belongings preparatory to starting out in the world.

The farmer, seeing his son packing his trunk, which he rightly judged to be evidence of the early loss of a good farm hand, stopped at the door of the young man's room and asked what he was going to do.

"The boy very promptly reminded his father of the day of the month and the year and declared his intention of striking out in the world on his own account."

"Not much you won't," shouted the old man, "at least not for awhile yet! You wasn't born until after 12 o'clock, so you can just take off them good clothes and fix to give me another half day's work down in the potato patch."

Fate at Times Works Some Strange Ironies.

Mr. McHugh, an Irish member of parliament, some years ago brought forward a bill for the amendment of the law relating to contempt of court in Ireland and was soon afterward sentenced to three months' imprisonment for that offense. Mr. McHugh's bill was sent to him in proof form while he was undergoing his sentence and revised in Kilmallock jail.

Two convicts were executed at the Ichigaya prison in Japan, and one of them as he ascended the guillotine remarked that he had built it himself while serving a sentence for larceny two years before.

A few years ago a story came from a town in Staffordshire, England, of a man who took his dog to the river to drown it in order to save the expense of a license, but slipped and was drowned himself, while the dog returned home.

Possible Origin of a Phrase.
There is an amusing story by Athenaeus which suggests the possible origin of the phrase, "He does not know enough to come in out of the wet."

According to the entertaining grammarian referred to, a town in Greece under stress of evil circumstances borrowed money from a rich man, who took as security for the loan a mortgage on the handsome portico which surrounded the market place. He was not an ungenerous creditor, for when it rained he caused the town criers to announce that the citizens had permission to take refuge under the colonnade. Strangers visiting the town who failed to have the matter properly explained to them were so impressed by the extraordinary circumstances that they spread abroad the report that the people were so stupid that they had to be told when to come in out of the wet.

HORRORS OF KISHINEFF

First Refugee in America Describes Massacre of Jews--Says Rich Russians Joined in-- Jacob Friedman's Story.

Jacob Friedman, the first refugee from Kishineff, the city of the recent Jewish massacre in Russia, who landed in New York recently, brought with him bruises from Russian knouts and clubs, and it was only through the help of a Christian friend that he escaped at all. The slaughter of his people in Kishineff is so impressed on Friedman's mind that he cannot believe he is safe.

Details of the first two days of the massacre were given to a reporter for the New York World by Friedman through an interpreter.

"It was the most awful butchery that men ever saw," said Friedman. "The rich Russians of the town joined in and with gloves on their hands helped to tear the Jewish children limb from limb. At first it was the lowest people of the town, then the better class became enraged at the sight of blood. I saw men dressed in fine clothing mixed in with the dirty ruffians of the town."

"I am a Polek and went to Kishineff three years ago to visit my grandfather, Solomon Friedman. I liked the town, and as I had 600 rubles (about $300) saved up, I moved my family there from Warsaw. With my grandfather I started in the glassware business at 4 Alexandroffsky street. We were doing well and saving money."

"On Sunday, the last day of the Passover, while we were eating dinner about 1 o'clock in the afternoon, I heard shrieks of women and children. We ran out to see what was the matter. I saw a wild mob coming, beating down women in the streets and breaking the windows and bursting open the doors. They were yelling and shouting in all sorts of languages. There were Wallachians, Roumanians and other people besides the Russians, so it seemed."

"Come, grandfather, let us run away or we'll be killed!" I called out.

"Oh, it's nothing," my grandfather answered. "Don't fear; it's only a holiday among the gentiles, and they feel somewhat gay."

"I saw that it was a bloodthirsty mob and tried to convince my grandfather, but the old man said he had lived in Kishineff all his life and that there was never anything there but peace. The mob came nearer, and we saw that they were beating people to death. I saw fifteen persons killed before they got to our door. I could hear cries from all over the city. I called out to my grandfather to run, but he said he would close up the shop and stay in the house. As he was closing the doors the mob rushed up and began beating us with clubs."

"I was struck on the arm and knocked down. I tried to help my grandfather, but the mob was so large I could not get to him, so I ran away to save my life. I saw them beating him with clubs. They broke his arms and beat him so that he died as soon as he was carried to the hospital."

"I ran to the house of Ivan Flodroff, a Christian, who had bought glass from me. He was a good man, and he hid me in his cellar. I lay there all night, expecting every moment to be hunted out and killed. I was crazy with the thought that my two little girls had been butchered and worse by the mob and that my two boys were killed. I had seen the wretches tear little children in two and throw their arms and legs into the gutter, and I thought that was the way they must have treated my own children. Monday morning I slipped out of Ivan's cellar and went by side streets and through alleys into Alexandroffsky street."

"My feet slipped in the blood mud-died clay. Bodies lay across the roadway and I stumbled across them. There were the bodies of men mutilated in ways I dare not tell. There were the bodies of women ripped open as a butcher cuts a beef."

"From the house of a carpenter came the groans of the dying man whose hands had been cut off with his own saw by a great brute who laughed at the fitness of the jest and who was applauded by the other brutes who clustered around laughing at the sight. There was not a house in that quarter that did not have its dead and dying within its walls."

"The whole street was filled with feathers and blood. The Russians had torn open every pillow and bed and had thrown the feathers in the air. They were scattered everywhere. My wife was peeping out of a hole and saw me. She ran out with the children, and together we escaped into the country. We went to a village, but there was no security there. We expected every minute that the Russians would come and kill us. After a few hours I slipped out and went back into Kishineff. The streets were a terrible sight, with mutilated bodies here and there. I don't know how I got up courage enough to go into the city, but I did slip in and reached the home of Ivan Flodroff."

"He took me in, though it was dangerous for him. I begged him to give me family protection and get us out of the neighborhood. At first he hesitated, but finally he said he would see us out of the city. He went with me and escorted my family by a devious way into the quarter of the city where lies the Kishineff railroad station. He bought railroad tickets for us all and kept back the angry crowd that would have killed us but for him. He gave me 30 rubles, which was money he owed me."

"Then, while a mob made up of the scum of Bessarabia gathered around us, he kissed me goodbye, as is our fashion over there. It was a brave act, but Ivan is powerful and a gentle. We went to Grodno first, and from there I managed to get to Sepelekin, which is two days' journey from Kishineff. There my mother-in-law lives. She gave me 100 rubles to pay my way to America and is caring for my family until I am able to send for them. I went to Bremen and boarded the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse."

"Before I left Kishineff I heard all sorts of stories of the massacres. I heard that hundreds were killed, and then I heard that less than fifty were dead, but that many more were dying in the hospital. My poor grandfather died in the hospital after they had cut off his arms."

"I can't say who was to blame for the riots. I didn't see a single Russian soldier in the mobs, nor did I see any of the police. The Russian priests were nowhere in sight. Appeals were made to the police, but they simply laughed. Though they didn't take part, they did nothing to protect us. It was simply a mad rabble turned loose to kill, rob and outrage as they pleased without interference."

FRANK D. HALL SUCCESSFUL
Induced Dr. Howard Company to Make Special Price.

After a great deal of effort and correspondence Frank D. Hall, the popular druggist, has succeeded in getting the Dr. Howard Co. to make a special half-price introductory offer on the regular fifty cent size of their celebrated specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia.

This medicine is a recent discovery for the cure of all diseases of the stomach and bowels. It not only gives quick relief, but it makes permanent cures.

Dr. Howard's specific has been so remarkably successful in curing constipation, dyspepsia and all liver troubles, that Mr. Hall is willing to return the price paid in every case where it does not give relief.

The old-fashioned idea of dosing with mineral waters, cathartic pills or laxative purgatives will soon be a thing of the past. The best physicians are prescribing Dr. Howard's specific because it really gives the desired results and on account of the small and pleasant dose that is needed.

So great is the demand for this specific that Mr. Hall has been able to secure only a limited supply and every one who is troubled with dyspepsia, constipation or liver trouble should call upon him at once, or send 25 cents and get sixty doses of the best medicine ever made, on this special half price offer, with his personal guarantee to refund the money if it does not cure.

legs into the gutter, and I thought that was the way they must have treated my own children. Monday morning I slipped out of Ivan's cellar and went by side streets and through alleys into Alexandroffsky street.

"My feet slipped in the blood mud-died clay. Bodies lay across the roadway and I stumbled across them. There were the bodies of men mutilated in ways I dare not tell. There were the bodies of women ripped open as a butcher cuts a beef."

"From the house of a carpenter came the groans of the dying man whose hands had been cut off with his own saw by a great brute who laughed at the fitness of the jest and who was applauded by the other brutes who clustered around laughing at the sight. There was not a house in that quarter that did not have its dead and dying within its walls."

"The whole street was filled with feathers and blood. The Russians had torn open every pillow and bed and had thrown the feathers in the air. They were scattered everywhere. My wife was peeping out of a hole and saw me. She ran out with the children, and together we escaped into the country. We went to a village, but there was no security there. We expected every minute that the Russians would come and kill us. After a few hours I slipped out and went back into Kishineff. The streets were a terrible sight, with mutilated bodies here and there. I don't know how I got up courage enough to go into the city, but I did slip in and reached the home of Ivan Flodroff."

"He took me in, though it was dangerous for him. I begged him to give me family protection and get us out of the neighborhood. At first he hesitated, but finally he said he would see us out of the city. He went with me and escorted my family by a devious way into the quarter of the city where lies the Kishineff railroad station. He bought railroad tickets for us all and kept back the angry crowd that would have killed us but for him. He gave me 30 rubles, which was money he owed me."

"Then, while a mob made up of the scum of Bessarabia gathered around us, he kissed me goodbye, as is our fashion over there. It was a brave act, but Ivan is powerful and a gentle. We went to Grodno first, and from there I managed to get to Sepelekin, which is two days' journey from Kishineff. There my mother-in-law lives. She gave me 100 rubles to pay my way to America and is caring for my family until I am able to send for them. I went to Bremen and boarded the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse."

"Before I left Kishineff I heard all sorts of stories of the massacres. I heard that hundreds were killed, and then I heard that less than fifty were dead, but that many more were dying in the hospital. My poor grandfather died in the hospital after they had cut off his arms."

"I can't say who was to blame for the riots. I didn't see a single Russian soldier in the mobs, nor did I see any of the police. The Russian priests were nowhere in sight. Appeals were made to the police, but they simply laughed. Though they didn't take part, they did nothing to protect us. It was simply a mad rabble turned loose to kill, rob and outrage as they pleased without interference."

MIRACLES BY ELECTRIC AID
Physician's Remarkable Demonstration of the Powers of Science.

In an attempt to show the relationship between science and religion Dr. Alfred Geyser, a well known physician in the Bronx district of New York city, recently gave an electrical seance at his home. His audience consisted of forty members of the Holy Name society of St. Anselm's Roman Catholic church in New York and two priests, Rev. Fathers Ruppert and Germannus, who are members of the Benedictine order.

In his parlor Dr. Geyser had a static battery, with twelve large revolving plates and a lot of other electrical apparatus. He had all the lights turned down, and when the room was in darkness he asked for a volunteer subject.

Thomas McKay stepped forward and was placed on the table by the doctor, who applied the battery. The subject was charged with electricity, and blue flames rose from his body.

Dr. Geyser took a small electric brush and demonstrated that he could make blue flames shoot from the man's head, ears and hair as he stood two feet away waving the brush. He then placed the brush to McKay's mouth, causing a flame to dart out.

"And they shall speak many tongues," quoted the doctor, as a babbling noise came from his subject's lips. The doctor emphasized the resemblance of the effects of his experiments to certain wonders and miracles spoken of in the Bible.

"I want to show," said Dr. Geyser, "that many of the wonders God performed may be accomplished today by a good electrician."

Continuing, the demonstrator gave a realistic imitation of thunder and lightning, causing flashes to dart through the room. He used the X rays to prove that man could now see what was inside and the telephone to prove man was "all hearing."

In all the exhibition lasted for an hour and a half. The doctor said he had invited the priests, who are old friends of his, that they could get material for sermons on the subject. Father Ruppert and Father Germannus, however, told the doctor his experiments, while interesting, had not convinced them that science could duplicate the wonders and miracles of Biblical times.

"God," they added, "performed his miracles in a different way."

RESOURCES OF ALASKA.

Government Expedition to Go There This Summer and Report.

A government expedition to Alaska to report on the resources of that region in other gold bearing fields is the latest project, and the indications are that the start will be made in the early summer. Information received at Washington from experts of the geological survey point to the conclusion that, though there are still many tons of valuable ore deposits not yet uncovered, the supply is not inexhaustible and the excitement over the discoveries of precious metal has done the district a real damage by diverting public attention from the other resources, says the New York Post.

The geologists think, for instance, that they find significant coal and petroleum traces along Cook's inlet. The Tanana river is thought to pass near another gold field not yet opened. This will keep interest alive now that the placer mining at Nome is growing a little less attractive, and so much capital has gone into the Klondike that that field has about reached its maximum of productivity.

No outside help will be accepted by the government scientists on their work for the government, but arrangements are making for the co-operation of a number of professional men of science on general results.

A Sure Thing.

It is said that nothing is sure except death and taxes, but that is not altogether true. Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption is a sure cure for all lung and throat troubles. Thousands can testify to that. Mrs. C. B. VanMeter of Sheperdstown, W. Va., says: "I had a severe case of Bronchitis and for a year tried everything I heard of, but got no relief. One bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery then cured me absolutely."

It's infallible for Croup, Whooping Cough, Grip, Pneumonia and Consumption. Try it. It's guaranteed by Frank D. Hall, druggist. Regular sizes 50c. and $1.00.

Electric Auto Car in Belgium.

Consul General Richard Guenther writes from Frankfurt to the state department that, according to the Journal de Bruxelles, the International Sleeping Car company has given orders for building an electric auto car, which by August next will be running upon the Belgian state railroad between Brussels and Ostend. The distance of 125 kilometers (seventy-eight and one-eighth miles) will be covered, it is stated, in less than an hour. The car will carry forty passengers.

The Craze for Green Stones.

The latest craze in precious stones is for green, two quite lovely specimens of this up to date cult coming in the form of peridot and chrysoprase, the former a bright, clear stone and the latter an opaque gem of cold green hue. Set with diamonds, either of these is now accounted of the first order of excellence. A handsome necklace of the latter, arranged in hanging drops on a fine gold chain studded with brilliants, comes as a novel and enchanting piece of jewelry.

THE SURE WAY.

To prevent Pneumonia and Consumption is to cure your cold when it first appears. Acker's English Remedy will stop the cough in a night, and drive the cold out of your system. The Automobile Girl.

There's the girl who is up in the saddle at six.
In a veil and a habit of blue.
To gather the roses of health for her cheeks
While the park is still shining with dew.
And the girl who is out in the opaline dawn
And away for a spin on her wheel,
But there is another who leaves them behind—
The girl in the automobile.

When over the floor of the ballroom she glides
In the languorous dance she is fair,
In shimmer of satin and gummer of pearls,
With a rose drooping low in her hair.
But see her by day in the coat and the cap
Which fashion has stamped with its seal,
And where is the man but surrenders his heart
To the girl in the automobile!

She matches her speed with the swallow above
As he skims in the blue unconfined
And gives but a touch to her tireless machine.
And, lo, she has left him behind.
The wind is a lagger as miles of the road
Like silvery ribbons unreal,
And cupid's the chauffeur who sits by the side
Of the girl in the automobile.

Like the breeze in its flight or the passer of night
Or swift as the fall of a star
She comes and she goes in a nimbus of dust
A goddess enthroned on a car.
The maid of the motor, bold and erect
With muscles as steady as steel,
Her hand on the lever and always in front
The girl in the automobile.

PAIN'S CELERY COMPOUND.

The prompt, effective, and honest results that are always obtained by the users of Paine's Celery Compound, call for the grateful and unstinted praise of clergymen of all denominations. In every parish and district of our land, clergymen are quietly but surely spreading the joyful intelligence that Paine's Celery Compound banishes ill health and makes sick people well.

Like men and women in other professions and in the ordinary callings of life church ministers are victims of the same ailments and diseases. When oppressed by sufferings and agonies, it is cheering to note that our clergymen have implicit confidence and faith in Dr. Phelps' life-giving prescription.

Paine's Celery Compound. Rev. A. L. Brantley, Summertown, Ga., tells how he was raised from a condition of suffering and great danger:—

"Before using Paine's Celery Compound I was continually suffering with sick and nervous headache, and it was a common occurrence for me to sleep little or none at night. Often have I arose in the morning with a severe headache and inactive mind, prostrated with nervousness from the loss of sleep. Now I can sleep well at night, have an active mind and can study ten hours a day while before I could study only a short while at a time. I certainly feel grateful for such a medicine as Paine's Celery Compound."

CITY COUNCIL

TO BORROW IN ANTICIPATION OF JUNE TAX.

Members of Board of Public Safety Resign—Salary Ordinance—Committees Appointed.

At the meeting of the city council Monday evening the future financial plans of the city were laid, being founded on economy. Judge Hunter's plan of borrowing $48,000 in anticipation of the June payment of taxes and attempting to save enough within the next year by a rigid course of economy to do away with the necessity of a bond issue, was carried. Every member of the council was present and President Russell presided.

The minutes of the previous regular and special meetings were read by Clerk Maurath and approved by the council.

An ordinance fixing the bonds of the members of the Board of Sinking Fund Trustees at $10,000 was read for the first time and passed under a suspension of the rules, after the second and third readings.

An ordinance creating the office of Clerk of the Board of Sinking Fund Trustees and fixing his compensation at $100 and his bond at $2,000 was read for the first time.

President Russell named his committees as follows:

Finance—Miller, Moser and Jones. Streets—Moser, Hunter, Carlisle and Baker. Public Service—Conrad, Jones, Miller and Carlisle. Public Safety—Hunter, Conrad and Miller. Law—Jones, Baker and Smythe. State Relations—Carlisle, Jones and Moser. County Relations—Baker, Hunter and Conrad.

Former Mayor Forry's partial report for the month of May, showing $2.00 to have been collected, was filed.

Mayor Crilly's approval of the following ordinances and resolutions was read by Clerk Maurath: A resolution to adopt rules and order of business for council meetings; a resolution providing for the appointment of standing committees; an ordinance providing for a clerk in office of the City Auditor and for a clerk of council; a resolution that the committee select jurors according to the precinct vote of the last election; and a resolution instructing the civil engineer to fix a grade and establish the cost of constructing sidewalks on Penney avenue.

Mayor Crilly submitted the resignations of Theodore M. Ball and Frank A. Bolton, as members of the Board of Public Safety. Messrs. Ball and Bolton stated in their resignations that the office required too much of their time and the compensation was not sufficient. Mayor Crilly had accepted both resignations.

A petition for the construction of a sewer on Woods avenue from the school building to Granville street was read by Clerk Maurath and was then referred to the Board of Public Service.

An ordinance amending the ordinance passed January 19, fixing salaries of the city officers, was read for the first time. The ordinance with the proposed amendments will fix the salaries as follows: Mayor $1200 per annum; president of council $200; solicitor $1500; auditor $1200; treasurer $200; member Board of Public Service $1200; member Board of Public Safety $300 (formerly $120); chief of fire department $1200; chief of police $900; clerk of Board of Public Service $150; clerk of Board of Public Safety $50; clerk of Board of Public Health $90; clerk of council $50; member of city council $120; sergeant-at-arms $75 (formerly $425). The only changes to be made are in the salaries of the sergeant-at-arms and of members of the Board of Public Safety.

Judge Hunter opposed the raising of the salary of the members of the Board of Public Safety until there is money in the treasury. Mr. Moser moved that the rules be suspended and the ordinance be read the second and third times and be placed on its final passage. This motion was defeated by council.

An ordinance to accept the plat of Lawrence's first addition to the City of Newark was referred to the street committee for further investigation.

An ordinance to issue bonds to raise money ostensibly for the equipment of the new North End fire department, but in reality for the reimbursement of the fire fund was introduced. The proposed bond issue was for $2000 the bonds being for $1000 each. A similar ordinance had been prepared to meet the deficiency in each of the other funds. Judge Hunter opposed this method of raising the money. He favored the issuing of deficiency bonds. City Solicitor Smythe stated that the reason he favored the proposed method was because it was the quickest. At the committee meeting Thursday evening council decided to issue bonds apparently for the raising of money for various improvements now being made or which were recently made. The expenses for these improvements have already been paid and the money to be obtained from the bond issue was to be used to reimburse the funds. This method would take about six weeks. The issue of deficiency bonds would take about two months as the matter would have to be voted upon by the people before the bonds could be issued.

As the principal concern on the part of the city officials is to get money at once the shortest method was supposed to be the best. Judge Hunter opposed it. He did not believe such a method in accordance with the law. Mr. Jones stated that the streets of the city are in a filthy condition and that the Board of Public Service would not make an effort to clean them until there was money in the treasury.

Judge Hunter then arose and made a plea for economy. He believed that the deficiency could be wiped out within a year or two. In the meantime he suggested that money be borrowed in anticipation of the June payment of taxes and that this be used to pay the running expenses of the city. If the practice of economy would not meet the deficiency there would be sufficient time to issue deficiency bonds. Council readily fell in with Judge Hunter's proposition. A resolution to borrow $18,000 in anticipation of the June payment of taxes and to issue a certificate of indebtedness for that amount was read and adopted without opposition.

Solicitor Smythe called attention to the fact that the money to be borrowed should be placed in the different funds according to the tax levy. A resolution calling for the proper distribution of the money was read and adopted.

The matter of accepting the dynamo ordered by the old council was again brought up. Mr. Moser favored its acceptance. Judge Hunter said that if the contract made to void he favored the non-acceptance of the dynamo. The matter was referred to the committee of public service for investigation.

TRUSTEES

Make Their Annual Inspection of Roads of Township—Surprised Mr. and Mrs. McMillen.

The trustees of Newark township, together with the township clerk, Mr. Frank Showman, made their annual inspection trip over the roads of the township on Monday. For several years on their inspection trips they have been entertained at dinner by Mr. and Mrs. A. B. McMillen, at their pleasant country home in the Cherry Valley. On Monday they took dinner as usual at the McMillen home but they did not notice the many former kindnesses of the host and hostess. During the dinner Mr. E. D. Everts, on behalf of the members of the Board, presented Mr. and Mrs. McMillen with a handsome silver pitcher as a token of their esteem. The recipients of the gift were almost overcome with surprise, but managed to express their thanks in a manner befitting the occasion.

Case After Case.

Plenty More Like This in Newark.

Scores of Newark people can tell you about Doan's Kidney Pills. "Many a lappy citizen makes a public statement of his experience. Here is a case of it. What better proof of merit can be had than such endorsement?"

C. B. Myers, 30 South Front street, freight conductor, B. & O. says:—"I had a pain in the small of my back for four or five years. It was such a constant ache that I had little chance to forget it. I went to Crayton's drug store and got Doan's Kidney Pills. This was not the first medicine I had used in trying to get rid of my trouble, but I claim it is the first that ever gave me quick and lasting relief, for the backache entirely disappeared."

Anniversary of the United Brethren Church, East Newark, Will be Observed Next Sunday.

The fifth anniversary of the East Main street United Brethren church will be observed next Sunday. Rev. O. C. Wright of Columbus, will preach both morning and evening. At the morning service at 10:30 o'clock there will be an old time roll call, at which time the name of every member of the church and of every society will be called, when each will make a cash offering, dropping envelopes into the basket as they answer. Should there be any who cannot be present they can delegate some one to answer for them. This offering will be used to make payment on the church and also for painting the building. The program of the day will be announced later.

Too Great a Risk.

In almost every neighborhood someone has died from an attack of cholera morbus, often before medicine could be procured, or a physician could be summoned. A reliable remedy for these diseases should be kept at hand. The risk is too great for anyone to take. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has undoubtedly saved the lives of more people and relieved more pain and suffering than any other medicine in use. It can always be depended upon. For sale by all druggists.

Ginseng as a Remedy.

No matter what the disease, the first thing the Chinaman thinks of is ginseng. His faith in his medicine helps to cure him beyond any doubt. Given such trust in any physician or any drug, there is no question but what it would reduce our mortality record. If a man wants to sober up after a night of feasting and wines, the remedy is ginseng. If he has used too much of the opium pipe, give him ginseng. If the baby's stomach is out of order, put ginseng into its food. If the appetite is gone, it calls for the same drug. The rich season their food with it as we would with pepper, believing that it aids digestion. The aged Chinaman uses it in the belief that it keeps him from growing feeble.—Medical Talk.

TRAVELERS BECOME COSTIVE!

The change in diet and drinking water, the motion of the cars, the irregular habits of travelers, no matter whether they travel on business all the time or for pleasure occasionally, usually result in a constipated condition of the bowels or some stomach or bowel trouble. Travelers should always have a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin with them. It is a pleasant liquid laxative and a certain cure for sick headache, train sickness and all stomach trouble. Your druggist sells it in 50 Cent and One Dollar bottles.

W. P. Gaines, of Little Rock, Ark., Traveling Salesman for the Smith-Premier Typewriter Co., writes: "While traveling through western Arkansas, in February last, I had a severe attack of Acute Indigestion. There was no doctor at hand, and I was suffering terribly. Your agent handed me a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin (which at that time was unknown to me). I took two doses and was relieved at once, and I want to say now that when I am on the road I am never without a bottle of Syrup Pepsin in my grip. I consider it as essential as my order book, and can find nothing equal to it for Stomach Trouble and Constipation."

FELL FIFTY FEET.

John Drescher, a Workman at New Block on Church Street Was Probably Fatally Injured This Afternoon.

John Drescher, aged about 40 years, was probably fatally injured at 2:20 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the new building of the Newark Real Estate and Improvement company on the corner of Fourth and Church streets. He was engaged with Homer Walters in putting in the new passenger elevator, both men being employees of the Kinkead & Liggett Elevator Company of Columbus, who are installing the two freight and passenger elevators. Drescher was at the top near the sky light, when the rope holding the frame work of the new elevator broke, the unfortunate man going down with it four stories, to the cellar. He was taken to the city hospital and it is feared he is fatally injured. The fall was fully 50 feet. Walters was uninjured. Drescher's home is at Milo, Franklin county. At 3:15 p. m. Dr. Stedem at the City Hospital began an examination of Mr. Drescher's injuries. The doctor said that he could not state the injured man's condition but the general belief of those who saw the accident is that it is fatal. There is, however, said to be some hope for the injured man.

OFFICERS ELECTED AT COUNTY SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION. Rev. B. F. Patt President. Mr. C. W. Shinn Secretary—The Last Day's Program.

The Tuesday morning session of the Licking County Sunday School convention opened with an attendance of delegates and friends of the work, that filled the Fifth Street Baptist church and the convention lost no time in getting down to business. An informal conference of County and Township officers and members of the tour party was held, after which reports of county officers were heard. A committee on resolutions consisting of Messrs. Maxwell, Bell and Fulton, and Assistant State Secretary Dowling gave a half hour address on "Sunday School Literature."

A round table discussion on "Present Day Sunday School Problems" was led by E. C. Knapp of the tour party. The following officers were elected as county officers of the Licking County Sunday School Association for the next year. President—B. F. Patt, Newark. Vice President—Rev. Benj. James. Secretary—Chas. W. Shinn. Treasurer—Chas. W. Shinn. Home Department Secretary—L. B. Wickliffe. Normal Department Secretary—Prof. W. A. Chamberlain, Granville, O. Primary Secretary—Miss Grace Wells Granville, O. Recording Secretary—E. M. Bell, Utica. Assistant Recording Secretary—Miss Mary J. Hamilton Glenford. The president, vice president, secretary treasurer, home normal and primary secretaries form the executive committee. A telegram of greeting was read from former Secretary Watson A. Holmes of Chester Pa. with reference to I Corinthians 15th chapter, fifth and eighth verses. A motion prevailed that Licking County give $10 toward the Sunday School at Hiawatha Park, in connection with the State Association. Each county contributes the same amount. Joseph Clarke of Columbus, general secretary of the State association gave the principal address of the convention beginning to speak at 10:50 o'clock. He chose for his theme "Soul Winner's Equipment." Mr. Clarke said that the principal difficulty that he found in every county of Ohio was that the forces were vanishing. Teachers were planning to give up the work, superintendents were making preparations to withdraw at the end of the year. He found in every county a disposition to become discouraged, but he said there should be no such word in the soul winner's vocabulary. The work was such that in the end it would rise triumphant, and the earnest, burning desire for the winning of souls shall in the end be crowned with a glorious fruition. The workers in the God blessed work of the Sunday School should by faith keep this triumphant vision constantly before them. The one great necessity for the Sunday School worker is a deeper realization of the fact that we are now living in a lost world. The man over 21 stands less chance of being saved than those below that age. The vast majority of men over 21 are going on their way with a fixed destiny, and comparatively few even yield to Jesus Christ. The one to work on is the boy, as, if he is saved not only a soul but a life is brought to God and His service. The speaker made a touching and powerful appeal to fathers and mothers to allow the children to come to God, when they wish to. They are never too young, and often when they are held back, or put off they never come. After Monday afternoon's session a large number of the delegates visited the old fort and state camp grounds, as well as other points of interest in and around Newark.

The theme for the evening's meeting was "Strengthening the Work." This session opened at 7 o'clock with a responsive reading led by the assistant state secretary. During the evening papers were presented by Rev. H. A. Dowling on "Strategic Points in Sunday School Progress" and E. C. Knapp a member of the state tour party. The following committee on nominations for officers for the ensuing year who were elected Tuesday morning was appointed: Prof. J. L. Gelpatrick, Granville; Rev. A. T. McCall, Union township; R. K. Smith, Utica; and C. H. Emswiler, Kirtlandville.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON. The first part of the Tuesday afternoon session was taken up by a song service led by Mr. Landes of the tour party. Afterward a business session was held for the purpose of raising funds for the carrying on of the work in Licking county, and the state at large. Mrs. A. G. Crouse conducted a primary conference in the parlors below, which was well attended by teachers of the little folks. Dr. Joseph Clarke of Columbus, delivered an address on "Contrasts and Developments." The convention recessed in time to attend the Children's meeting led by Mrs. Crouse in the Second Presbyterian church. H. A. Dowling and E. C. Knapp also made addresses at the afternoon session. TUESDAY AFTERNOON. Theme: "A Square Look at Practicalities." 1:45—Devotional Service and Song, led by W. G. Landes, musical conductor. 2:00—Address—"Making the Wheels Go Round," H. A. Dowling, assistant state secretary. 2:45—Address—"A Sample Normal Lesson," E. C. Knapp, member state tour party. 3:15—Address—"A Study in Contrasts and Development," Dr. Joseph Clarke, state general secretary. 4:00—Adjournment for Children's meeting. Children's meeting at 4 o'clock, in another building, led by Mrs. A. G. Crouse, state primary secretary. TUESDAY EVENING. Theme: "The Conclusion of the Whole Matter." 7:00—Half hour of sacred song, conducted by W. G. Landes, state musical director. 7:30—Address—"Lesson Preparation and Presentation," Mrs. A. G. Crouse, state primary secretary. 8:00—Closing address, Dr. Joseph Clarke, state general secretary. 8:45—Farewell Meditations. 9:00—Adjournment. A Startling Test. To save a life, Dr. T. G. Merritt, of No. Mehoopany, Pa., made a startling test resulting in a wonderful cure. He writes, "a patient was attacked with violent hemorrhages, caused by ulceration of the stomach. I had often found Electric Bitters excellent for acute stomach and liver troubles so I prescribed them. The patient gained from the first, and has not had an attack in fourteen months." Electric Bitters are positively guaranteed for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation and Kidney troubles. Try them. Only 50 cents at Hall's Drug Store.

THE MEN AND WOMEN

Who Enjoy the Choicest Products of the World's Commerce.

Knowledge of What is Best More Important Than Wealth Without It.

It must be apparent to every one that the values of the highest order are necessary to enable the best of the products of modern commerce to attain permanently a universal acceptance. However judiciously they may be selected for world-wide recurrence unless they meet with the general approval not of individuals only but of the many who have the happy faculty of selecting, enjoying and learning the real worth of the choicest products. Their commendation, consequently, becomes important to others, since to meet the requirements of the well informed of all countries the method of manufacture must be of the most perfect order and the combination the most excellent of its kind. The above is true not of food products only, but is especially applicable to medicinal agents and after nearly a quarter of a century of growth and general use the excellent remedy, Syrup of Figs, is everywhere accepted, throughout the world, as the best of family laxatives. Its quality is due not only to the excellence of the combination of the laxative and armative principles of plants known to act most beneficially on the system and presented in the form of a pleasant and refreshing liquid, but also to the method of manufacture of the California Fig Syrup Co., which ensures that uniformity and purity essential in a remedy intended for family use. Ask any physician who is well informed and he will answer at once that it is an excellent laxative. It is at all eminent in his profession and has made a special study of laxatives and their effects upon the system he will tell you that it is the best of family laxatives, because it is simple and wholesome and cleanses and sweetens the system effectually, when a laxative is needed, without any unpleasant after-effects. Every well-informed druggist of reputable standing knows that Syrup of Figs is an excellent laxative and is glad to sell it, at the regular price of fifty cents per bottle, because it gives general satisfaction, but one should remember that in order to get the beneficial effects of Syrup of Figs it is necessary to buy the genuine, when is sold in original packages only, the name of the remedy—Syrup of Figs—on the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package.

Lawyer Says Twentieth Century Will See It Either Proved or Disproved. Albert H. Walker, a New York patent lawyer who recently finished a week of lectures on patent law at the University of Michigan, closed with an address on "Discoveries, Inventions, Philosophy and Religion of the Twentieth Century," says a dispatch from Ann Arbor to the New York Times. As a patent lawyer he said: "I believe that the twentieth century will see no such inventions as the nineteenth. I expect the twentieth century to prove whether the soul is immortal. Either spiritualism will demonstrate it by actual communication with departed souls or science will disprove it by showing that every feeling we have is produced by electrical effects on the brain. I would not be surprised if the existence of God were proved. The majority of men in this country are atheists." He predicted an exodus from all churches except the Roman Catholic to Christian Science and the discovery of the exact time of the end of the world.

EVIDENCE

ENOUGH IN REICHLIN MURDER TO FIND INDICTMENT.

Father Walser's Story is Wanted by Detective Goldsmith to Complete Chain of Evidence.

Lorain, O., May 19—Coroner French states that he will reopen the inquest into the death of Agatha Reichlin in the event that Mayor King requested it, and backed up his demand with evidence of an important character.

The detectives are working along a new line and promise developments of a sensational nature. Mayor King is moving with caution. Detective Goldsmith said last night:

"We will make a demand upon Coroner French Wednesday. We have found evidence of a surprising nature, and Walser's testimony will be necessary to the completion of some of this. Walser's story, under oath is indispensable. French cannot afford to refuse to reopen the case; there has been already too much delay and too much official interference.

"Whether the inquest is reopened or not the evidence we have will be placed before the grand jury. We have we believe, sufficient to make an indictment."

THE SICK.

Should use Great Seal Prune Laxative.

Mrs. Thomas H. Sites, who has been suffering with a complication of diseases for the past eighteen months, has recently shown marked signs of improvement, and her friends are in hopes that the improvement in her condition will continue and that she will eventually be restored to health.
